ONE HUNDRED THIRTY COUPLES TO ATTEND FOOTBALL HOP THIS EVENING

FELTCORN'S ORCHESTRA OF NEW LONDON WILL FURNISH THE MUSIC FOR BIG FORMAL DANCE

Peerless Unable to Play Due to Conflict in Dates.—Milton Katz Engaged to Lead Felcorn's Orchestra by Special Arrangement.—Freshmen Names Scarce in List of Couples Attending—Fraternity Boxes Decorated This Afternoon.

Over one hundred and thirty couples are expected to attend the first formal dance of the year—the Football Hop—which will be held in Hawley Armory tonight. Approximately thirty more couples are expected to attend the dance than were on hand last year for the same event.

Felcorn's Orchestra to Play

Due to a conflict in dates the Peerless Orchestra of Willimantic will be unable to furnish the music for the Football Hop. The committee in charge have been fortunate in securing the services of Felcorn's Orchestra of New London. This orchestra has been extremely popular at many of the seashore resorts this past summer. Mr. Felcorn is rated as one of the best saxophone players in New England. By special arrangement, Milton Katz, '23, has been engaged as leader.

The lateness of the change in orchestras makes it impossible to change the names on the programs that are already printed. The name of the Peerless Orchestra will appear on the program but the Peerless Orchestra will not be present at the dance.

Freshmen Names Scarce

There is a noticeable scarcity of freshmen names on the list, which the committee does not quite understand. If there are any freshmen who are planning to go to the Hop and who have not yet made arrangements for accommodations in a box, they should see some member of the committee immediately in order that such arrangements can be made. The box in the northeast corner of the Armory is to be occupied by Eta Lambda Sigma, that in the northwest corner by Alpha Gamma Rho, the southeast corner by Alpha Phi and the southwest corner by the College Shakespearean Club. The stage will be occupied by Phi Mu Delta while the east side is given to the

AGGIES BESTED BY ANCIENT RIVALS WHO BREAK EXISTING SIX GAME TIE

HUNDREDS OF RIVAL ROOTERS WATCH RHODE ISLAND TEAM ROMP OFF WITH THE BACON

Connecticut Threatens to Win Game in Last Minute Rush.—Blue and White Outplay R. I. Men in Every Department of Game.—Berry Stars for the Aggies.—One of Largest and Most Colorful Crowds Ever Seen at Connecticut Witnessed Struggle of Rival Gridsters.

Rhode Island jarred Connecticut with a bitter 12-7 defeat Saturday before a colorful crowd of two thousand people, the largest ever assembled on Gardner Dow Field. The weather, dark and threatening, was keenly contrasted by the spirit of the crowd. Under leadership of Captain Daly the men fought like wildcats, tearing into and around Rhody's line for thirteen first downs, and contributing the most spectacular plays of the game in the fast broken field running of "Bob" Berry, but headier football on Rhode Island's part gave the Kingston team the victory, and sent two hundred of their supporters back to the plains with the coveted pigskin.

Attempted Drop Kick Fails

Throughout the first half Connecticut time and again, plunged deep into Rhode Island's territory, but always the Kingston defense stiffened and Johnson punted out of danger. The Aggies wore themselves out slashing at the line, while Johnson usually kicked on the first or second down. Berry's great work in running back punts, and the driving offensive which Rhody seemed powerless to halt, kept the invaders' goal in danger. In the second quarter Berry's forty-three yard sprint after catching Johnson's kick and line plunges, put the ball on Rhode Island's ten yard mark. Radovitch was sent in to drop-kick, but his effort bounced along the ground.

Rhode Island Scores Twice

Rhode Island started the second half in a surging drive that could not be stopped, MacIntosh reeling off consistent gains through the line from a crisscross formation, on the eleventh play of the half slipped through the right side of the Aggie line for a touchdown. Of the forty-three yards gained in this drive, MacIntosh accounted for forty-one. The engineers scored again early in the fourth quarter. MacIntosh intercepted Makofski's short pass, and raced forty-one yards along the Kingston sidelines for the touchdown. Johnson failed in both of his attempts to drop-kick for the extra point.

Connecticut Rallies and Scores

Darkness began to close in, and the air chilled. Connecticut's rooters despaired of getting a touchdown, but then the orange jerseyed eleven dis-

JUDGING CONTESTS AT "AG" CLUB FAIR

HIGH SCHOOLS WILL

Many Exhibits from Town and State as Well as Departments of the College.—Harvest Dance Staged for Last Night of Fair.

One of the features of the Ag. Club fair this year will be a Poultry Show, at which birds from all over Mansfield and Willimantic will be exhibited. High Schools to Judge Keen competition is expected in the High School judging contests, the divisions of which are Crops, Dairying, Poultry, Horticulture and Farm Management. Each High School entering will send two teams of three men. Each team will compete in one contest, all the contests counting alike toward the Woodford Farm Cup, presented by Mr. J. W. Connecticut gained several times as much ground as Rhode Island but the men from Rhody had all the breaks, and breaks go a long way in winning a football game.

"Bob" Berry was the shining light of the contest and with two more years ahead should be a wonderful quarter.

The Aggie fighting spirit was there in full force and only lack of time prevented Connecticut from driving over the winning score.

"Max" Eddy got away some good punts and had the edge on the veteran Johnson, both in distance and direction.

Saturday marked the passing of five more Connecticut football veterans when Captain Daly, Ashman, Patterson, Juralewicz and Prentice donned their uniforms for the last time.

Now that football is over the Aggie five is beginning to warm up on the Hawley Armory floor. A championship team last year; Connecticut should easily outdistance all rivals in the coming season.

TRACKSTERS NOW GETTING INTO FORM FOR SEASON

Coach Daly has sounded the initial call for track men, old and new, to don their trunks and begin daily training. The coach is working mainly on form at present and requests all men who are interested to report to manager "Jack" Oberly as soon as they can. Manager Oberly would also like to see those wishing to try out for assistant track managership.

DAIRY DEPARTMENT MEN ATTEND BIG MEETING

Professors G. W. White and R. C. Fisher of the Dairy Department attended the meeting of the National Milk Producers' Federation which was held on November 9 and 10. The Federation met in the Municipal Auditorium, Court Square, at Springfield, Mass. Prominent speakers delivered very interesting and instructive speeches pertaining to the importance and conditions of the National Milk Markets. A business session was also held at which the reports of officers were received and new committees appointed. The large program presented by the speakers was instructive and defined the present market situation.

WHY THE SILENCE?

There has been little or nothing said about the successfulness of the football season just passed. It must be that there is something a little off color. Perhaps it is time for a change. Perhaps the student body and the alumni have started to think the matter over. Assuming the latter to be the case, it is not too bold to state that we should like to hear some of the results of this careful thinking.

A few suggestions may be offered. What is the opinion of the alumni and student body in regard to the one year ruling for all athletics at Connecticut? What have the alumni and student body to say in regard to the season just passed? What do the alumni and student body think about athletics in general as they now stand at Connecticut?

The student body has made good use of the Safety Valve column in the "Campus" thus far this year. The alumni of the college are also privileged to use this column if they so desire. All contributions must be signed by the writer. A pen name may be sent which will be used if the Editors print the article contributed.

SCHOLASTIC STANDING

Judging from the looks of the present Honor List, the "survival of the fittest" is being practiced by the powers that be. This is only the mid-semester but it is not too far-fetched to prophesy that the axe will fall when the day of reckoning comes.

Raising the scholastic standing of the college is, above all question, one of the best things that can be accomplished by the faculty. It will make more mediocre students study harder to become good students and to remain in the college. In this way graduates of the college will be young men and women who are better fitted to become the leaders of our state and nation. Connecticut will have a higher standing in relation to other colleges of the country.

For the time being, the new revolution, for such it seems, hurts deeply. Many names that here-to-fore have always appeared on the Honor Roll are now left by the wayside. Many men are on warning or probation for low grades. College activities are keenly feeling the effect of the sudden boost in scholastic standing. Probably some will slump into oblivion before the year is over.

It means that the fellows who are to be the leaders of student life must be active, capable men who can study hard and at the same time accomplish good work in a limited number of activities. The Point system is setting a limit on activities that will prevent a person from over-loading with outside work to the extent that the studies are neglected.

Like most reforms of this nature, it seems harsh now, but in time it will be considered a sound benefit to the college and to every individual of the institution.

MORE RESPECT

We are to be seen at our best when attending social functions, as plays, entertainments and dances in the Armory. Visitors judge us accordingly. Therefore it would be well for the few noted "wise-crackers" in our midst to show a little more respect to visitors who attend such functions. "A moment of carelessness may mean a lifetime of regret." Let us hope that a word to the wise is sufficient.

DRAMATIC CLUB PLAY FOR TOMORROW NIGHT

Football Hop Presentation will be, "The Girl He Couldn't Leave Behind Him."

The Dramatic Club will give "The Girl He Couldn't Leave Behind Him" for the Football Hop Play. This is three act comedy, but differs in many respects from previous plays given by the Dramatic Club. Though the plot is not very exciting, the entire action is exceedingly funny throughout, and the interest lags at no time during the performance. "The Girl He Couldn't Leave Behind" is the first Charles Frohman production ever given at C. A. C. Frohman, a large New York producer, who was drowned on the Titanic, never allowed any of his plays to leave the major circuits, but now that his estate is being settled, the executors are releasing the plays for amateur production.

The cast of the coming play is showing up well, according to the director, M. J. Farrell. Donald Bassett is taking the lead as a henpecked husband, and Roland T. Wehger plays a similar role. Louise E. Benn appears as a Spanish dancer and George I. Sneiderman plays opposite her as an Italian dancer. Pauline M. Girard makes an exceptionally good henpecking wife. Many of the other parts are equally well taken.

The music for the play will be furnished by John Jacoby, Armen Bulbulian will play a violin solo during intermission. The Peerless Orchestra will play for the dance which will follow the play.

ANNUAL BANQUET ENDS FOOTBALL SEASON

OVER THREE HUNDRED PRESENT AT BIG EVENT

E. O. Smith, Toastmaster.—Speeches by President Beach, Professor Manchester and Coach Tasker.

After the tense excitement of the Rhode Island tilt Saturday, the annual Football Banquet was held that evening at eight o'clock in the College Dining Hall. There were three hundred people present, including fifty members of the football squad and an equal number of alumni.

E. O. Smith, formerly secretary and coach of the college, was toastmaster and introduced President Beach, as the first speaker of the evening. The president seized the opportunity to present to the large number of active alumni, a broad-minded view of the future athletic policy of Connecticut. He spoke favorably of establishing the one year rule and having Connecticut represented at the New England Conference to be held in Boston November 5th and 6th. He also touched on college policies in general and the development of the institution in size and material equipment.

Professor Manchester, the second speaker, "seized the athletic bull by the horns" when he stated that the future success of our teams depended on the cooperation of the student body. He complimented Coach Tasker on the football season and closed his speech by emphasizing the part the alumni could play in the future development of the college.

Coach Tasker next gave a short address in which he lauded the qualities of the men who made up the squad and Captain Daly thanked the students and squad for their support.

Sheriff F. Vinton, "trustee by marriage," concluded the address with some humorous anecdotes.

"Jim" Mullane arranged for the student end of the banquet, cooperating with the committee who was responsible for the alumni.

The cast is as follows:

Joseph, servant at the Dorking's
J. Bradford Ricketts
Maria, another servant
Marion S. Eggleston
Felix Pendleton Donald B. Bassett
Mr. Greenfield, a friend
Donald H. Lawson
Augustus Dorking Roland T. Wehger

Framelli, an Italian dancer
George I. Sneiderman
Miss Marlin, companion to Lola

The play will start at 8:15 Saturday evening. Tickets are on sale at the bookstore.

SAFETY VALVE

ARMISTICE DAY

Dear Editor:

In response to the article on Armistice Day which appeared in last week's issue of the "Campus," it is not an easy matter to answer the writer's question, "Why?" As the sentiment in connection with honoring those who gave their best seems to have been ignored on the Hill this year, let us simply consider the cold facts of the case. The general opinion seems to be that it was considered that the student body has too much time off during a semester. Granting that this may be a possible reason, is there now a remedy for the lack of observance of this day? Consider our Thanksgiving recess. If we should shorten this period by twenty-four hours, cannot an allowance then be made for Armistice Day? Most colleges of the country do not have as lengthy a Thanksgiving recess as Connecticut does, and many have only one day. One possible solution is then, another year, for us to have our Thanksgiving recess from Wednesday noon to Friday noon, and put that extra twenty-four hours into Armistice Day.

(Signed) Another.

ANOTHER VERSION

Dear Editor:

The question of observance of Armistice Day as was stated in the last issue of the "Campus" was indeed a good question. "Why?" Why wasn't there a single sign of recognition or honor to the hundreds and thousands of the young men of the country, and many from the ranks of our own Alma Mater, who made the supreme sacrifice?

It is my firm belief that the majority of the student body thought that by granting the holiday that the faculty of the institution were petitioned for, some part of the morning would be set aside to exercises honoring our dead.

It seems a shame that a state college should let a thing like that go unnoticed. A five minute silence period would have filled the bill. Even a one-minute silence period would have been far better than that bare, cold silence. Let us hope that in coming years Connecticut will see fit to give at least one minute to silent prayer and concentration in honor of the nation's heroes and our former college mates who gave their lives in the World War.

(Signed) Patriot.

TRACK!

Now that track has begun in earnest it is a good time to say a few words about this sport. Track is perhaps the only sport at Connecticut in which practically any man can qualify. Many instances of the past have shown how men formerly of mediocre ability have been developed into valuable players.

MAJOR HILL INSPECTS
R. O. T. C. BATTALION

Commander of First Corps Area
States his Approval of Work and Condition of Men in College Unit.

The R. O. T. C. inspection held Friday, November 17, was reported by the inspecting officer the best and snappiest inspection that the C. A. C.
unit has had in several years.

The battalion, consisting of four companies "fell in" in front of Hawley Armory and were marched by the cadet officers around the A. A. field and formed in a line of companies.
Major Hill, commander of the first R.
O. T. C. Corps area, made an inspection of the companies. Very few demerits were recorded. The battalion paraded around the A.A. field and was then put through a series of calisthenics by Captain Crim. The snappy exercises brought a loud applause from the crowd in the grand stand.

Talk It Over At Home

A Christmas Vacation Suggestion To Seniors

THIS is your last year in college. This is your last Christmas vacation.

Your career after graduation is a question that you will want to talk over with the folks at home. They will be even more interested than you are. Now is the time to do it.

The John Hancock has in its field organization producers who began as life insurance men immediately after graduation and have made a conspicuous success of it.

Why waste time trying out something else which looks "just as good" and then come into the life insurance work to compete with the man who got into the game from the start?

Talk it over at home and remember that you can get information and helpful advice by addressing

AG CLUB DARINGLY STARTS NOVEL CONTEST

WILL ENDEAVOR TO PICK
MOST POPULAR GIRL

Contestants Must Secure Twenty-Five Votes Before They are Eligible.—Prizes to be Awarded.—Winners Announced on Last Night of the Fair at Dance.

Who is the most popular girl on the campus?

This is the question the Ag Club is going to put up to the students of our fair college and the results will be made known on the closing night of the Ag Club Fair.

Realizing that the result of the contest will be of the utmost importance both to the college and to the state, the Ag Club has offered prizes and has announced the sparring rules. The purpose of these rules is to see that the contest is run off fairly and to prevent any out and out encounters between the contestants or their campaign managers.

The lucky lady will receive a one hundred dollar diamond ring and every voter will have a chance of winning a Waltham watch. Who will select the candidates is a question. The one who will dare to select the most popular among the fair ones on the Hill will be a hero with a posthumous award if he divulges his name before the excitement of the contest is well past.

Every young lady must have twenty-five votes before she can enter the contest and the campaign managers will be busy during the next few weeks finding the necessary votes for his fair one. Dark rumors have reached the scribe's ear and many predictions as to the winners are already on foot. It has been rumored that janitors have been given orders to keep the mirrors in Holcomb Hall shining all the while so that popular girls will not have to slight any of their charms.

"Connie" Mahoney, the Book Store magnate, has bids out to the college jewelers for the purchase of the ring and watch. "Connie" has consented after a little teasing to allot a space of prominence in one of his display cases for the prizes. A bulletin board will be placed over the soda fountain to record the votes and will give the standing of the contestants every two days.

The contest will close at 10 P.M. on the night of the Farmers Dance, at which time the ring and watch will be awarded. The popular young lady will be compelled to hold a reception in honor of the award and to extend the glad hand to all her admirers. Her campaign manager will also be there and for his part of the honor it is expected that he will pass around the cigars to his co-workers.

HOPS AND HOLDS

Let's hop!

But watch those chaperones.

Above all, stay out of the college buildings after dark, or you may stay out all the while

And knock 'em off in the home town far from this scene of collegiate endeavor.

Why not a co-ed style show at the "Ag" Club Fair?

Now that the swimming pool is nearly ready, the School men will be able to bathe.

For we understand there are no baths in the barracks.

THE SENTENCES OF THE WEEK

"America never does things by halves—that is her virtue and her defect."—Willard Wattles.

Wonder who paid for those calling cards that flooded the mails last week.

Someone went broke!

If all the mental effort used in writing American college humorous magazines were switched to studies—

How the pros would laugh!

"On the run!" yelled Guyer, noting the rip in the co-ed's stocking while directing P. E.

The philosophical point in the above lies in the fact that stockings run, but co-eds never do.

Fred C. Wood of the Cornell "Widow" writes, "The Little Lady sends her best wishes for the success of the new offspring in the field."

How about it? Can we go a College Comic?

In replying, please use the Safety Valve.

Philosophy doesn't thrive on "E's" and total abstinence.

But perhaps you have already guessed as much from reading this column.

Well, "shuffle along" and hop to it. Remember to stay in the Armory—that's where the dance will be held.

Tolerantly,
The C. P.

The women of Storrs are making extensive preparations for their Japanese tea and sale, which is to be given in the recreation room in the rear of the church on December 12 from three to six.

NEW MATERIAL ADDED TO DRAMATIC EQUIPMENT

The managerial end of the Dramatic Club has been materially strengthened the last month. The Dramatic Club and the treasurer of the College, R. I. Longley, purchased a three-piece furniture suite to be used jointly by the Dramatic Club in their plays, and by the Assembly Committee for President's Hour. The treasurer has also ordered a set of side lights to kill the shadows from the side of the stage, and a dimmer or rheostat to give varied lighting effects.

The dimmer, according to President George V. Hilldring of the Club, will be a very important addition. Previously it has been necessary when soft light effects were desired, to turn out about half the lights. While this method did serve to reduce the light, it also had a tendency to produce shadows. With a dimmer these shadows will be eliminated, as the desired light effect will be obtained not by turning out a section of the lights but by dimming them all.

played the finest exhibition of grit it has shown this season. On a hidden ball trick play Berry streaked seventeen yards around the left end. "Ed" Hurley cracked the blue line wide open and tore through for eleven yards. A forward pass to Eddy netted twenty yards. After two more short gains, Berry grabbed Makofski's pass and shot around left end twenty yards for a touchdown. M. Eddy place-kicked successfully for the extra point. Eddy kicked off and Connecticut immediately took the ball on downs. Berry circled the end for seven yards, and Eddy gained twenty-five on a trick play. Ryan made seventeen on a pass. The next was out of Ryan's reach as he raced desperately for it over the goal line, and Connecticut's last chance to win was lost as darkness quietly settled over the hills of Mansfield.

THOMAS CURTIN SPEAKS AT COLLEGE ASSEMBLY

Thomas Curtin the speaker for President's Hour on Wednesday, Nov. 22 was remembered by the faculty and upperclassmen for his interesting speech on Britain, France and Germany, which he gave at the college last year. In the occupation of war correspondent for 'The London Times' as well as in later travels, Mr. Curtin came in direct contact with the situations on which he spoke Wednesday.

His discussion consisted of a complete resume of the after-war economic and financial conditions of the central European countries. He paid particular attention to Germany as he said much depended on her outcome. In this connection he brought out the present day financial standing of the German workman.

Mr. Curtin told also of the struggle now in progress between the old military party and the present civilian government. He continued by telling of many expedients used by German manufacturers to evade income tax; of the condition of the landlord classes and the problems which confront them; of the lack of confidence of the Germans in their own monetary system.

Mr. Curtin concluded by stating that the underlying fault of all the powerful governments throughout history, which have risen and had their fall, is the fact that they were founded on a false foundation—that of a rule of the few, and the lack of a broad, general participation in government.
